

To The Second Episcopal District Family:

It grieved us deeply when we received word that our beloved Dr. Patricia Ann Morris DeVeaux, Retired Episcopal Supervisor died on Wednesday, May 20, 2020. We know that “Dr. Pam” was beloved and well respected by multitudes across the spectrum of the Second Episcopal District, The African Methodist Episcopal Church, and other far-flung places around the globe.

We express our deepest sympathy to her devoted husband, Bishop William Phillips DeVeaux, her children and grandchildren whom she loved dearly. And other family members and many, many friends. The members of the Second Episcopal District are walking with you in this hour of grief and will always be there for you.

Dr. Pam had an incredibly special relationship with the Second Episcopal District. Having served with devotion and distinction as Second Episcopal District Supervisor for four (4) magnificent years, 2012-2016, she touched numerous lives; but never lost the common touch. Dr. Pam had a unique gift of humor. She possessed the art of commanding a crowd with a jest that left everyone under her spell.

All of our hearts are aching. We fill your pain. We can never forget the many times she blessed the hearts of children, youth, young adults, and adults within the Women’s Missionary Society. We count with much love, all the moments of joy that were ours to share with her. Dr. Pam was one who lived every day with hope and faith in the good of humankind.

We shall always be grateful for her kind acts and words of encouragement and inspiration. Those precious memories will always be a part of our remembrance of her. As she did in everything that she put her hands and heart to do for the up building of God's kingdom, she did with a willing heart and spirit of gladness.

In Dr. Pam, we fondly remember a Christian woman who truly believed; and through her actions, demonstrated that you help yourself when you help others; You cannot love without being loved, and you get the most out of life when you consciously strive to put the most into it as a servant of the Most High God. She possessed an insatiable hunger to draw closer and closer to Christ. She was a true worshipper, a sincere praiser, and an extraordinary witness of what faith in God means to the believer.

Every life has a purpose. Dr. Pam knew, accepted, and fulfilled her purpose with excellence. For we know from all accounts that Dr. Pam, graceful, refined, dignified, elegant, intelligent, and a charismatic woman of God, packed into her lifetime, a legacy of faith that generations yet unborn can emulate. Thus, we reflect on life- well lived doing all the good that God had assigned her hands and heart to do.

Dr. Patricia Ann Morris DeVeaux will be greatly missed as a friend and as a good faithful servant of the Most High God. We know from all accounts, "It is Well! It is well with her soul." We can rest in the assurance that another faithful servant has made it home.

With our deepest sympathy and with much love, We remain
